Second Career Strategy and Ontario Skills Development

Many of you have questions about some of the training options available. Second Career Strategy and Ontario Skills Development are Ontario government programs that help you train for a new job.

Through these programs, financial assistance is available to help unemployed individuals participate in training to obtain new skills.

Watch the website for details about training information sessions in June.

How to get started?

1. Attend an information session, sponsored by Career Planning Service.
2. After attending the session, make an appointment with an Employment Counsellor at Career Planning Service.
3. If you are interested in a particular training program, complete the application package provided at the group session before you meet with the Employment Counsellor.
